County Sends Pair of Trees To Ohio State Fairgrounds

SOMETHING NEW from Fayette County will be on display at the State Fairgrounds Saturday. It will be a pair of trees, here being dug up from a woodlot on the farm of Willard Story of the Columbus Road by three members of the Washington C. H. Future Farmers of America. County Agent W. W. Montgomery steadies a tree as the boys, (left to right) Jack Matthews, John Rhoad and Larry Lane, dig out the roots. This tree and another just like it are being taken to Columbus Friday afternoon and will be planted in front of the new Youth Center there in a special ceremony Saturday. Miss Nancy Stephenson, one of Fayette County's representatives on the State Junior Fair Board, will be present for the ceremony. (Record-Herald photo)

Stewardship of Soil Stressed at Meeting

Background for Soil Stewardship Week, which opens Sunday with Rural Life Sunday, was given by word and motion picture at a meeting of ministers of Fayette County churches at the Presbyterian Church in Bloomingburg Thursday night.

The meeting, which followed dinner at the Baptist Church just a couple of blocks down the street, was sponsored by the Fayette County Soil Conservation District's board of supervisors.

Two of the commissioners, Robert Cockerill and Ralph Minton, joined the gathering after dinner at the church. However, only half a dozen of the nearly 40 ministers in the county were at the meeting.

There was an air of relaxed informality over the meeting which started with the showing of a motion picture on conservation by Curtis Steele, the area supervisor for the U. S. Soil Conservation Service, who is here especially for that purpose.

THE FILM was countryside in scope and gave a series of scenes filmed on the farm as the backdrop for interviews with farmers of the midwest, dairymen of New England, cattlemen of the western ranges, cotton planters of the south and orchardists of the west coast and Great Lakes region. It also showed areas left raw and barren by erosion by rain and wind and followed with pictures of lush fields reclaimed and preserved through conservation farming practices.

The picture, put out by the Good-year Co., stressed the "stewardship of the soil" theme of the occasion. Frank Sollars, the former chair-

Ohio To Get Wet Warmth

(By The Associated Press)
The Weather Bureau indicates that Ohio is in for above-normal temperatures plus fairly heavy rainfall.

The bureau's five-day extended forecast says:

Temperatures will average two to six degrees above normal; normal high 55 north to 60 south, low 35-39. Cooler Saturday, warming trend late Sunday and Monday, cooler again Tuesday and Wednesday. Showers and thunderstorms tonight and early Saturday, and again Monday, precipitation averaging one inch, locally heavier.

Wet weather hit parts of the nation's South and Rocky Mountain regions today but it was fairly dry and mild in most other parts of the country.

A storm in the lower Mississippi Valley brought moderate to heavy falls of rain over most of the Gulf Coast states and as far northward as Tennessee. Heaviest amounts, measuring more than two inches, were in Alabama, Louisiana and Mississippi.

A spring snow storm struck areas in the central Rockies. Falls ranged up to three inches in parts of Wyoming and Colorado. Showers and snow flurries were reported from the northern Rockies eastward across the northern Plains to the Upper Great Lakes.

Personnel of the Record-Herald was well represented Thursday evening at the formal showing of the "new home" of the Hillsboro Publishing Co.

Among the more than 2,000 visitors who toured the new modern newspaper building completed last fall were Gov. Frank J. Lausche. Starting in the afternoon the steady stream of visitors began arriving right after lunch and kept arriving until late in the evening.

Those making the trip from the Record-Herald were James Baughn, Eddie West, Harry Speakman, Harold Hatmacker, Robert Speakman, Paul Rodenfels, A. A. Abel, George Pierce and Charles Gallagher.

The new plant is aptly described as the latest and most modern both in construction and design.

Lausche's Name Still Pops Up On Top Levels

Louisiana Chief Tags Ohioan, Paul Douglas 'Winning Combination'

(By The Associated Press)
The name of Ohio Gov. Frank J. Lausche continues to pop up in discussions of who the Democrats should run in this year's presidential election against President Eisenhower.

Louisiana governor-designate Earl K. Long says he thinks Lausche and Illinois Sen. Paul Douglas would be a winning combination for the Democrats if Adlai Stevenson fades as a candidate.

But Long said Stevenson would be the nominee "if it were left up to him (Long)."

John O'Shaughnessy, chairman of the Illinois Citizens for Lausche Committee, says a reception for the Ohio governor probably will be held in Chicago early in June. The committee is campaigning for write-in votes for Lausche in the Illinois primary Tuesday.

But in Columbus today, Lausche asserted he doesn't stand a chance to win the nomination.

"There isn't a chance in the world," the five-time governor said, recalling his self-imposed ban against political speeches outside Ohio prior to the November election.

"I have dozens of invitations, but I haven't a single one in mind that is acceptable," he said.

The governor recently announced that he would give a non-political address in Los Angeles, Calif., on April 26. He will address a meeting sponsored by the Forest Lawn Foundation in connection with a fund-raising drive by denominational colleges.

Meanwhile, the Kefauver campaign rolled into New Jersey today as Stevenson supporters lay in wait there with a plan to elect a slate of unpledged delegates to the Democratic National Convention.

BACKERS OF Stevenson were active also in Illinois and California, the scenes of two other upcoming primaries.

Sen. Estes Kefauver, who opens a five-day barnstorming tour of New Jersey today, said yesterday he feels Stevenson is "still out in front" in the race for the presidential nomination.

The former Illinois governor, who carried the Democrats' 1952 standard in a losing cause, is not entered in the New Jersey primary on April 17. But his backers there have started a campaign to induce Democrats to support the regular Democratic organization delegate slate, headed by Gov. Robert B. Meyner.

This 72-member slate, running unpledged, is opposing a full delegate roster entered in behalf of Kefauver. New Jersey will have 36 votes at the convention, each delegate casting half a vote.

"We know that the preference of many of the delegates on the regular Democratic slate is for Stevenson," said Harold C. Hoffman, state treasurer of the Stevenson for President Committee. "The only way to defeat Kefauver is to get votes on the Meyner slate."

Hoffman said in Newark Stevenson backers would try to get Democrats to ignore the presidential preference poll in which only Kefauver and President Eisenhower are entered. Hoffman said there would be no write-in campaign for Stevenson. The preference poll is a popularity contest and does not bind delegates.

4 Of 5 Single Men Face Military Call

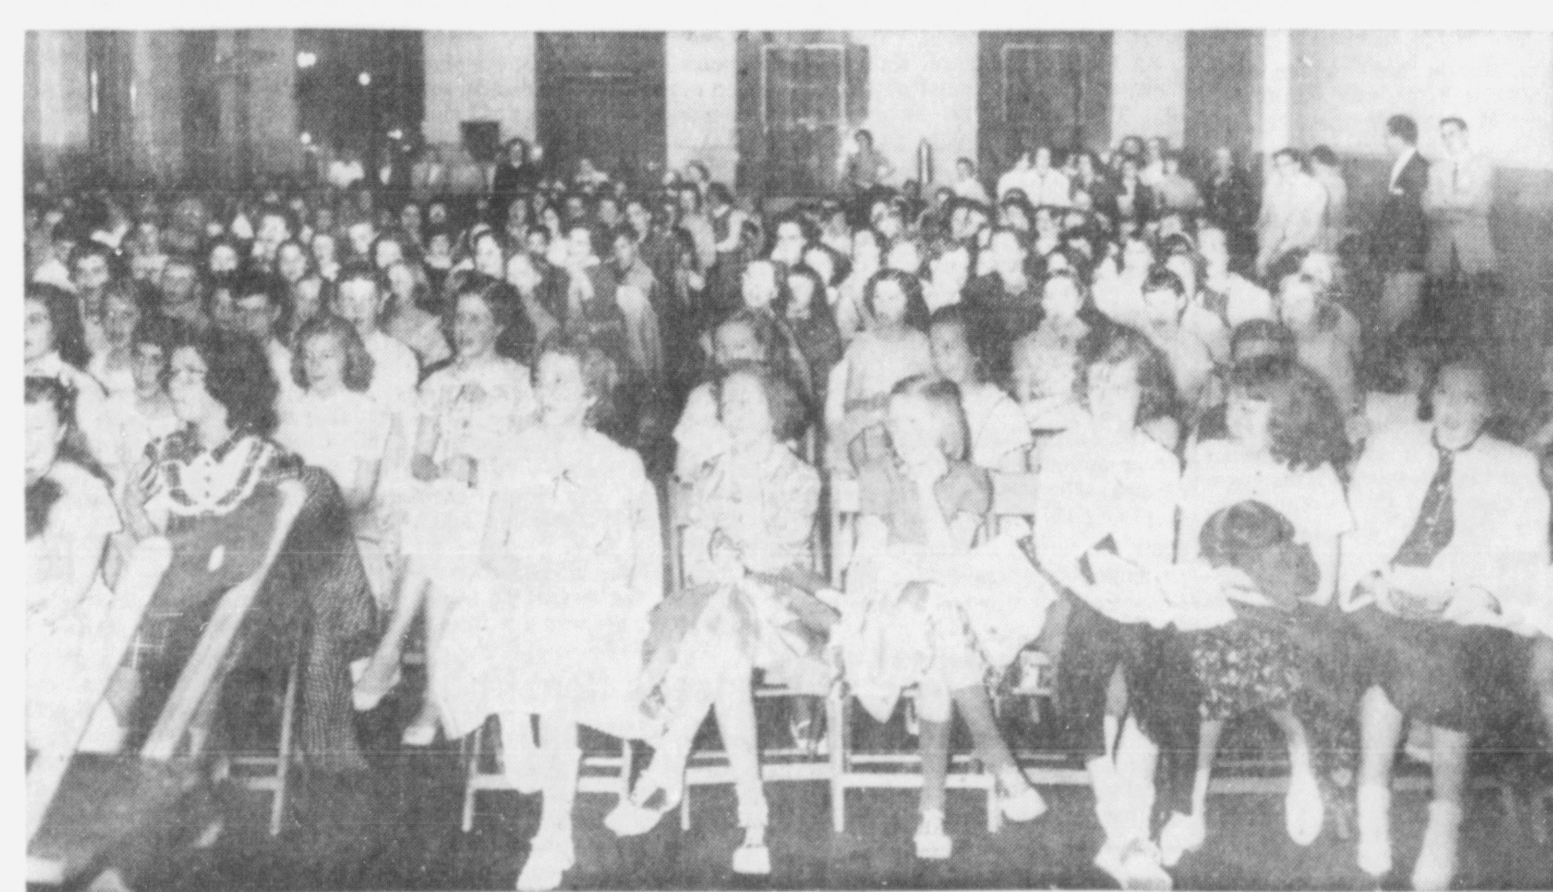

NEW YORK (AP)—Adm. Arthur Radford, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, said today that four out of five qualified men who are not fathers "can expect to enter military service before they reach age 26."

Radford said some young people "have heard rumors that because our draft calls are currently small, their chances of being called into military service run about one in ten. This is an erroneous impression."

300 Youngsters Learn about Good Grooming

BEFORE THESE 300-PLUS 4-H BOYS AND GIRLS got down to the serious business of learning about good grooming, they spent about 15 minutes in group singing (above) to relieve the tenseness. The Good Grooming Clinic, a 4-H enterprise, was held Thursday night in the DP&L auditorium.

Around 300 4-H members, advisors and parents were in attendance at the annual 4-H Good Grooming Clinic held Thursday evening at the Dayton Power and Light Co. auditorium.

Nancy Stephenson, a junior leader, opened the program by welcoming the guests. Charlotte Moats was in charge of group singing which followed.

Dr. Philip Binzel spoke to the group on the subject: "What About Our Feet?" and "Infection in cuts and bruises."

Miss Gretchen Darlington, Health Department nurse, presented a film "Good Grooming."

A number of junior leaders presented a skit entitled "Early Morning Personalities." Those participating were Nancy Stephenson, Gene Gustin, Pat Scott, Jackie Hoppes, Barbara Sue Kneisley, Alan Wilt and Jo Reiff.

FOR THE NEXT half hour the young people assembled in age groups for discussions. Miss Valaska Rhinehart, a beautician, talked to the younger girls on "Make-up" while Fred Domenico, Washington C. H. High School football coach, talked to the younger boys.

For the high school girls, Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Berg, Fashion

Page proprietors, displayed fashions and showed the girls how complete outfits could be built around a basic costume. Jo Reiff and Linda Loudner were models.

For high school boys, Bud Schlus and John Ellcessor, owners of Bud's Men's Wear Store, presented styles in hats and suits for the young man and gave them ideas on wearing apparel for this Spring and Summer.

Refreshments of cookies and milk were served by the Good Groom-

Compromise Farm Aid Bill Near Completion By Solons

WASHINGTON (AP)—A compromise election-year farm bill takes its final form today.

A 10-member Senate-House conference committee meets to act formally on the tentative agreement it reached during two weeks of efforts to combine the differing programs of the two houses.

All the earlier decisions were open to revision in the final voting but leaders of the conferees said they expected only minor changes if any at all.

"We'll stay in session until we wind this up," said Sen. Ellender (D-La.), chairman of the conference group. He expressed hope of approval by nightfall.

The complex bill and report explaining it must be printed over the weekend for use of the representatives and senators due back from a 10-day Easter recess Monday. The House will act first, possibly on Wednesday.

Rep. Cooley (D-NC), chairman of the House Agriculture Committee and head of its conferees, said he is confident the compromise will clear the House by a safe margin.

"The farm situation has deteriorated," he said, since the House voted 206-201 last May 5 to return to higher, rigid price supports on five basic crops.

The House thus far has acted only on the rigid price supports.

Other major provisions are a $1.2 billion soil bank plan for paying farmers to take surplus land out of production; an extra $500 million for price support purchases of meats, fruits and other perishable farm commodities; two-price plans for wheat and rice, and other plans for increasing price support levels.

The conferees voted yesterday for a $1-million acre national allotment, 8 million more than the acreage fixed by the Agriculture Department as a maximum.

The bill would require farmers to comply with their individual planting allotments to qualify for either price supports or soil bank payments.

Disputes over violation of soil bank contracts would be referred by county and state farmer committees, subject to appeal to federal district courts. These committees also would decide on division of soil bank benefits between landlords and tenants.

Meanwhile, Agriculture Secretary Ezra Taft Benson thumped for continuance of flexible supports which, he claimed, have been endorsed by "every secretary of agriculture for 20 years."

He said that in 1948, President Truman and the National Farmers Union both favored the "principles" of flexible supports.

But from Denver, the president of the National Farmers Union, James G. Patton, said the "National Farmers Union has never stood for an 'economy of scarcity' which is what the sliding scale means when you boil it down. The delegates to our national conventions have always called for 100 per cent of parity income. The secretary doesn't have the facts on his side."

It's Next To Impossible For Youngster To Buy Medium-Size Ohio Farm

COLUMBUS (AP)—You are a young man and want to establish an 180-acre farm in Ohio.

You will have to provide everything—lands, buildings, equipment.

The cost? An Ohio State University extension economist says it would be $62,000.

And, if you are a good farmer, your net income, after deducting living expenses, would just about pay the interest on your investment. If you're only an average farmer, your income wouldn't even do that. But whether a good or average farmer, the probability of your ever paying off the mortgage under present farm conditions is pretty slim.

And, says Robert Schwartz, the OSU economist, chances are no banker ever would loan you that much money anyway.

Schwartz drew his observations from actual farm account records kept by 40 general livestock farmers in Western Ohio. He said he found that 180 acres of land in Western Ohio would cost about $30,200.

Buildings on the place would add another $17,200. Farm inventory records showed machinery valued at $5,500, livestock at $5,800 and feed supplies at $3,400. These items total about $62,000.

Schwartz figured adjusted net income on this investment, based on farm prices over the last 10 years, would be about $5,500. Assuming the farmer would need about $2,400 for food and other living expenses above the value of those items he produced on his own place, he would have left $3,100, Schwartz figured.

If the interest rate on the $62,000 were five percent (it could be slightly higher on short-term ones), the farmer's interest payments would amount to $3,100. That would take the rest of his net income.

The economist says these figures indicate that it is next to impossible for a young man to get into the farming business these days unless (1) he starts in partnership with his father; (2) gets a rich relative or friend to back him financially, or (3) has a job in town that will supplement his farm income.

Grocer Watches As $580 Burns Up

CLEVELAND (AP)—A sad grocer watched yesterday while $580 of his money burned in a city incinerator.

Marion Kaczmarek hid the currency Wednesday in some newspapers in the back of his shop, then he discovered garbage collectors had hauled the papers away.

City officials found out which truck had made the collection, and Kaczmarek rushed to the incinerator in time to watch the fire.

President Gets Summary from Education Panel

38-Member Committee Divided Three Ways On Federal Aid Issue

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Committee for the White House conference on education told President Eisenhower today "the schools have fallen far behind both the aspirations of the American people and their capabilities."

Nevertheless, the committee said in its final report: "There is far more to be proud of in today's schools than there is to criticize. Their weaknesses usually stem from a lack of means rather than any defect in their goal."

The 50,000-word document also contained an unanimous committee view that racial desegregation "must be worked out by each community within the intent of the relevant Supreme Court decisions."

On another key issue—a federal aid to schools—the committee split three ways, with a majority favoring emergency building grants.

Twenty-eight members of the 34-member committee, headed by Neil H. McElroy, president of the Procter & Gamble Co., held that:

"FEDERAL AID for school construction should be made available on a limited basis to all states and territories and the District of Columbia to help overcome the present school building emergency under the philosophy of encouraging greater use of state and local funds."

A minority report signed by four members contended federal assistance should be through loans, not grants. Another, signed by two members, held it should not be limited to building aid nor to emergency aid.

The report submitted to Eisenhower today was based on state and White House conference reports, together with further findings of the committee and its consultants.

The committee traced the building and teacher shortages back to the depression '30s. A "school house famine" began then and lasted through the war years, it said, adding that many people decided against having the babies who might have grown up into today's teachers.

The shortages, it said, are compounded by the wave of wartime and postwar babies now banging at school house doors. And, it added, the proportion of school age children staying in through high school is steadily increasing.

THE COMMITTEE put the building problem this way: "If the expected enrollment of 1959-60 were enrolled now, the need would be for 375,000 classrooms."

"The present construction rate is about 60,000 classrooms per year. If this rate continues or decreases, simple arithmetic shows the need has no chance to be met."

Although holding that "in general the same things that caused the shortage of school buildings caused the shortage of teachers," the committee declared "the biggest single cause is undoubtedly low pay."

"Doubling the pay (in real wages) of teachers cannot be done quickly," it said, "but in the opinion of this committee such a drastic increase eventually will be necessary to attract the most capable young men and women to the schools."

Kentucky Boy May Have Rabies

STANTON, Ky. (AP)—A constant bedside vigil was kept today by an 84-year-old father whose son is feared to be a victim of rabies.

Roy Dunn, 15, became ill a week ago and has been subject to violent seizures. The family said he told of being bitten by mad dogs.

Menifee Dunn, father of 24 children, also is worried about five others. A representative of the state health dept. will use tests on Roy to decide whether four brothers and a sister should take antirabies treatments. All were bitten by the boy while caring for him, they said.

FLINT, Mich. (AP)—Four gun men held up the East Side branch of the Citizens' Bank shortly after 11:15 a. m. today and methodically looted it of an estimated $75,000.

There was no shooting as the four bandits, wearing stocking masks, took less than five minutes for the robbery. Two of them stood guard at the door of the bank as the other two climbed over a teller's cage and stuffed the money into a bag.

38-Member Committee Divided Three Ways On Federal Aid Issue

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Committee for the White House conference on education told President Eisenhower today "the schools have fallen far behind both the aspirations of the American people and their capabilities."

Nevertheless, the committee said in its final report: "There is far more to be proud of in today's schools than there is to criticize. Their weaknesses usually stem from a lack of means rather than any defect in their goal."

The 50,000-word document also contained an unanimous committee view that racial desegregation "must be worked out by each community within the intent of the relevant Supreme Court decisions."

On another key issue — federal aid to schools — the committee split three ways, with a majority favoring emergency building grants.

Twenty-eight members of the 34-member committee, headed by Neil H. McElroy, president of the Procter & Gamble Co., held that:

"FEDERAL aid for school construction should be made available on a limited basis to all states and territories and the District of Columbia to help overcome the present school building emergency under the philosophy of encouraging greater use of state and local funds."

A minority report signed by four members contended federal assistance should be through loans, not grants. Another, signed by two members, held it should not be limited to building aid nor to emergency aid.

The report submitted to Eisenhower today was based on state and White House conference reports, together with further findings of the committee and its consultants.

The committee traced the building and teacher shortages back to the depression '30s. A "school house famine" began then and lasted through the war years, it said, adding that many people decided against having the babies who might have grown up into today's teachers.

The shortages, it said, are compounded by the wave of wartime and postwar babies now banging at school house doors. And, it added, the proportion of school age children staying in through high school is steadily increasing.

THE COMMITTEE put the building problem this way: "If the expected enrollment of 1959-60 were enrolled now, the need would be for 375,000 classrooms."

"The present construction rate is about 60,000 classrooms per year. If this rate continues or decreases, simple arithmetic shows the need has no chance to be met."

Although holding that "in general the same things that caused the shortage of school buildings caused the shortage of teachers," the committee declared "the biggest single cause is undoubtedly low pay."

"Doubling the pay (in real wages) of teachers cannot be done quickly," it said, "but in the opinion of this committee such a drastic increase eventually will be necessary to attract the most capable young men and women to the schools."

Kentucky Boy May Have Rabies

STANTON, Ky. (AP)—A constant bedside vigil was kept today by an 84-year-old father whose son is feared to be a victim of rabies.

Roy Dunn, 15, became ill a week ago and has been subject to violent seizures. The family said he told of being bitten by mad dogs.

Menifee Dunn, father of 24 children, also is worried about five others. A representative of the state health dept. will use tests on Roy to decide whether four brothers and a sister should take antirabies treatments. All were bitten by the boy while caring for him, they said.

the country for a service on the land and amid rural surroundings. He said the skeptics had told him that half of his congregation would drop out along the way; on the contrary, he said, every one stayed to the finish, and was enthusiastic.

He handed the ministers and supervisors a copy of the Rogation service program and suggested they might get some ideas for a similar service for their churches on Rural Life Sunday.

W. W. Montgomery endorsed the plan of the congregation going to the farm for services in the field and said several 4-H groups were ready to take part in Rural Life Sunday services at the churches.

MOST OF THE arrangements for the meeting were made by Lee Cleland, the Soil Conservation Service technician assigned to Fayette County, and Willard Bitzer, his aide.

On the board of supervisors of the Conservation District are Joe Bryan, the chairman, Sollars, Robert Hagler, Ray Fisher and Lawrence Grim. All of them were at the meeting.

It was agreed among the ministers there and the supervisors that copies of two pamphlets, "Soil Stewardship Week" and "Selected Sermons on Soil Stewardship," and a copy of Rev. Lindsey's Rogation service program should be sent to the ministers who were not at the meeting.

Dr. Paul Elliott, pastor of the church in which the meeting was held, and Rev. William Pelly, pastor of the Methodist circuit, said they would seek to encourage observance of Rural Life Sunday and Soil Stewardship Week among the other ministers through the county Ministerial Association.

All of the ministers at the meeting indicated they had planned to observe these two occasions at their churches and deliver special sermons in support of soil conservation.

Minstrel Is Tonight At WHS Auditorium

Grab your straw hat and cane—we're off to the minstrel show!

Complete with interludes and end men, a leggy chorus line, down-South singin' and all the rest, the show will be put on Friday night (tonight) in the Washington C. H. High School auditorium.

The actors will be the pupils in the seventh and eighth grades at WHS. This will be the second time around for the youthful actors. They put on the same show a month ago for fellow pupils, teachers and parents.

The show went over so well that time that a clamor went up for a repeat performance for the general public.

The kids and their director, junior high music instructor Robert Newman, said "Why not?" and went back to rehearsing.

By now, the minstrel should be polished up to the point of gleaming. The youngsters have been practicing their routines since December.

And tonight's the night. The curtain will go up on the extravaganza at 8 P. M. and tickets will be on sale at the door beforehand.

Driving Teacher's Error Costs $30

UHRICHVILLE (AP)—An instructor in automobile driving at Tuscarawas High School discovered that he had been giving his students the wrong information when he appeared before Mayor Burton Kennedy yesterday on a speeding charge.

"Are you sure the speed limit is 25 where I was doing 35?" Robert French asked the mayor. "I've been telling my kids it's 35." The mayor fined him $30 and described the fine as an "expensive but good lesson."

Blue Geese Drop in Here On Way North

A small flock of blue geese dropped down on a pond in Fayette County about two weeks ago and, apparently, liked the country because they are still there.

They have selected a little pond on the Homer McCoy farm on the Good Hope Pike for their stop-over and resting place. And, they have attracted considerable attention among the few who knew they were there.

David Krupla, the county's new game protector, went to take a look at them Friday morning and talked with McCoy about them. Although he could not get close enough to make an accurate count, he said he thought there were 12 or 15 in the flock.

It must be unusual for blue geese to stop over in these parts because McCoy told him some naturalists from Ohio State University, headed by Ed Thomas, the state curator of natural history, were here several days ago for long-range study.

Blue geese, Krupla said, weigh between 5 and 6 pounds as compared to the more familiar Canada geese, which weigh 14 to 16 pounds.

The game protector warned that it is not lawful to shoot blue geese, or any other migratory waterfowl in the spring—so if you sportsmen had any ideas about grabbing a trophy, you had better forget it right now.

Krupla said the blue geese mostly winter in the bayous of Louisiana and go far north in the summer.

Dancer's Benefit Yields $20,000

CLEVELAND (AP)—The benefit fund for Tina Lamont, the night club dancer wounded while deflecting shots a robber aimed at two detectives, had jumped upward by more than $20,000 today.

Tina, whose off-stage name is Mrs. Dorothy Kuchs, will receive $20,000 from the program staged here last night.

The 32-year-old Mrs. Kuchs was wounded in the spine last January in a night club. In grappling with a holdup man who was killed by policemen's gunfire, she was drawn into the line of fire. But she spoiled the gunman's aim at the detectives.

Sales Tax More In This County

Gain Of $2,000 Is Shown In Report

Sale of prepaid tax receipts in Fayette County during the seven days ending March 24, were some $2,000 more than during the same week last year, as disclosed by the weekly report of State Treasurer, Roger W. Tracy.

For the recent week the total was $10,787.66 and for the same week a year ago it was $8,769.78, bringing total collections since July 1 to $329,878.16 compared with $312,151.86 for the same period last year.

Highland and Ross Counties were the other two counties in this immediate area in which sales were more than for the same week in 1955.

In the entire state sales tax collections for the recent week were $3,656,466, exceeded revenues for the corresponding week a year ago by $68,278.

THIS AMOUNT represents a gain of 1.9 percent in excess of the collections of $3,588,188 which were registered for the week which ended March 26, 1955. It also marked the ninth week of the present calendar year in which the weekly collections have been greater than last year.

The cumulative grand total revenues rose to $165,761,694, as of March 24 in the current fiscal year which started last July 1, including prepaid tax receipts, use tax and other collections.

This figure represents a gain of $21,540,936, or 14.93 percent over the grand total collections of $144,220,758 registered on March 26, 1955, for the corresponding period of the previous fiscal year.

Blue Geese Drop in Here On Way North

A small flock of blue geese dropped down on a pond in Fayette County about two weeks ago and, apparently, liked the country because they are still there.

They have selected a little pond on the Homer McCoy farm on the Good Hope Pike for their stop-over and resting place. And, they have attracted considerable attention among the few who knew they were there.

David Krupla the county's new game protector, went to take a look at them Friday morning and talked with McCoy about them. Although he could not get close enough to make an accurate count, he said he thought there were 12 or 15 in the flock.

It must be unusual for blue geese to stop over in these parts because McCoy told him some naturalists from Ohio State University, headed by Ed Thomas, the state curator of natural history, were here several days ago for long-range study.

Blue geese, Krupla said, weigh between 5 and 6 pounds as compared to the more familiar Canada geese, which weigh 14 to 16 pounds.

The game protector warned that it is not lawful to shoot blue geese, or any other migratory waterfowl in the spring—so if you sportsmen had any ideas about bagging a trophy, you had better forget it right now.

Krupla said the blue geese mostly winter in the bayous of Louisiana and go far north in the summer.

Dancer's Benefit Yields $20,000

CLEVELAND (AP)—The benefit fund for Tina Lamont, the night club dancer wounded while deflecting shots a robber aimed at two detectives, had jumped upward by more than $20,000 today.

Tina, whose off-stage name is Mrs. Dorothy Kuchs, will receive $20,000 from the program staged here last night.

The 32-year-old Mrs. Kuchs was wounded in the spine last January in a night club. In grappling with a holdup man who was killed by policemen's gunfire, she was drawn into the line of fire. But she spoiled the gunman's aim at the detectives.

Sales Tax More In This County

Gain Of $2,000 Is Shown In Report

Sale of prepaid tax receipts in Fayette County during the seven days ending March 24, were some $2,000 more than during the same week last year, as disclosed by the weekly report of State Treasurer, Roger W. Tracy.

For the recent week the total was $10,787.66 and for the same week a year ago it was $8,769.78, bringing total collections since July 1 to $329,878.16 compared with $312,151.86 for the same period last year.

Highland and Ross Counties were the other two counties in this immediate area in which sales were more than for the same week in 1955.

In the entire state sales tax collections for the recent week were $3,656,466, exceeded revenues for the corresponding week a year ago by $68,278.

THIS AMOUNT represents a gain of 1.9 percent in excess of the collections of $3,588,188 which were registered for the week which ended March 26, 1955. It also marked the ninth week of the present calendar year in which the weekly collections have been greater than last year.

The cumulative grand total revenues rose to $165,761,694, as of March 24 in the current fiscal year which started last July 1, including prepaid tax receipts, use tax and other collections.

This figure represents a gain of $21,540,936, or 14.93 percent over the grand total collections of $144,220,758 registered on March 26, 1955, for the corresponding period of the previous fiscal year.

"Mary Haworth's Mail"

DEAR MARY HAWORTH: I am a widow, 60, and have to be self-supporting. But lately I have got it into my head that I have a heart condition. My doctor tells me it is my nerves, and it is a terrible feeling. I am afraid of everything.

Do you know of any books that I could read to set me right?

R. B.

DEAR R. B.: The terribly self-concerned feeling you have, which seems to center on fear of death, is actually a byproduct of present loneliness in life, and loneliness of living, I think.

A basic requirement for emotional health and physical well-being (which are interdependent conditions), is to have some real specific fellowship at the core of one's daily experience. Living alone is bad for one.

We take for granted that people need food, shelter, air, water, rest, etc., to maintain existence. But we aren't sufficiently aware that human beings also need ready access to intimate friendly communion of spirit with other humans (to whom they matter), in order to stay in good repair. Without such psychological interchange as the usual thing, individuals sicken in mind and body and fail in the struggle for survival.

This outflow and intake of interest, between humans, is just as essential to the maintenance of general health, as breathing is necessary to keep the heart in motion. In effect, it amounts to emotional "respiration." If one's emotions aren't freely exercised, vitalized and refreshed in this sense, they become, as it were, a stagnant pool, and steep the self in morbidity. Just as your stifled emotional energies are depressing you.

Figuratively you do have a heart condition, and intuitively you know this. One's heart is sickened by emotional isolation, as poets have always recognized. And modern medicine seconds this view in latter-day findings about the adverse effects, upon heart health, of emotional rejection.

Self-help for you consists in finding outlets for warmhearted fellowship with others, to whom you may be helpful—and in securing these persons as friends.

For books that might contribute to all-around help, I suggest the following: "The Healing Light" (Macalaster Park) by Agnes Sanford; "How to Find Health Through Prayer" (Harpers) by Glenn Clark; and "Let's Eat Right to Keep Fit" (Harcourt, Brace) by Adelle Davis.

Caution Urged By Chief Long

Urban Accidents Are Unusually Heavy

Although the cities of the state show but one-third of Ohio's traffic deaths last year, they had nearly half the injuries and about 60 percent of the accidents. Police Chief Vaiden Long said that three out of 10 urban accidents produce an injury with an average of four persons injured for each of the 10 accidents.

It is altogether likely that a good share of the pedestrian injuries are suffered in the cities, not only because of the denser vehicle travel, but most of the pedestrian are walking in the urban areas.

More than half of the pedestrian casualties come as a result of people crossing streets between intersections. Chief Long pointed out that there has been constant emphasis on the necessity of crossing in crosswalks and yet year after year more than half of the casualties result because people are just in too big a hurry and fail to walk to the corner and cross at that point.

HOWEVER, Chief Long admitted that injuries resulting from pedestrians using the intersections were not too far behind the between-block casualties. He pointed out that the majority of the pedestrians do use the crosswalks and therefore there was more opportunity for a collision between a vehicle and pedestrian at these points.

Chief Long thought that quite a few of the injuries at crosswalks might be the result of two things: — The pedestrian takes a look before he starts across and too often does not look again. In the last third of his crossing he is caught by a car that he didn't even see.

This car could have pulled from a parking place or out of an alley, or be a left-turning vehicle approaching partly from the rear of the pedestrian.

The pedestrian should continue to watch for vehicles as he crosses the street, then in the event he missed seeing one before he started, he has an opportunity to escape injury.

The Chief was emphatic in stating that too many motorists give too little attention to pedestrians, particularly when said motorist wishes to make a turn. The pedestrian has the right-of-way over a turning vehicle and even those walkers who are crossing the street unlawfully and improperly do not warrant being struck by an inattentive driver. The motorist still has the responsibility to make every possible effort to avoid striking the person on foot.

Final Tributes To Pfc. Rhoades

School Friends Attend Funeral

All that was mortal of Pfc. K. O. Rhoades today rested in the peace and quiet of the cemetery at Bloomingburg, where he went to school and had so many friends.

Pfc. Rhoades was killed accidentally March 20 while serving with the U. S. Army in Germany.

Funeral services were held at the Kirkpatrick Funeral Home here at 2 o'clock Thursday afternoon.

Dr. Paul Elliott, pastor of the Bloomingburg Presbyterian Church, who conducted the service, offered prayer, read the Scripture and the hymn, "God Be With You Till We Meet Again," and paid a personal tribute to the young soldier.

Attending the services together were 35 Bloomingburg High School students, headed by Supt. G. H. Biddle. Pfc. Rhoades was a graduate of Bloomingburg High School. M-sgt. William Ayers represented the Second Army headquarters in Columbus.

The military service was conducted at the cemetery by the Veterans of Foreign Wars led by Commander Don Fowler.

On the firing squad were Darrell Woods, the commander, Delmar Gilbert, Ted Wilburn, Gene Fanon, Harry Bryan, Jr., Glenn Upman and Harry Jones.

The chaplain was Leo Cox, the color bearers were Robert Penrod and Earl West and the color guards were Glenn Riley and Lafayette Moore.

The flag which draped the casket was folded by Woods and Pfc. William Carlton, who escorted the casket from Germany to Pfc. Rhoades' home community, and presented to his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Pearl Rhoades, by Com. Fowler.

Taps were sounded by Douglas Rider.

Members of the senior class of Bloomingburg High School served as the bodyguard of honorary pallbearers.

The active pallbearers were Pfc. Ayers, and members of the VFW post here, William Gardner, Walter Wilson, Alton Smalles, Charles Osborne and Edgar Tills.

Television Still Struggling Toward Good News Program

By CHARLES MERCER

NEW YORK — There's something wrong with the Sunday afternoon news roundups on NBC-TV and CBS-TV. They're just good enough that they hold out the hope of being much better. But they're just bad enough that they irritate the perfectionists.

The idea of a Sunday afternoon news program seems to be excellent. CBS entered the field first a few weeks ago with a half-hour program guided and edited by the able and urbane Eric Sevareid. Last Sunday NBC made its entry, a half-hour entitled Outlook moderated by Chet Huntley, whose manner and voice are equally impressive.

The NBC program has a slicker format than the CBS show. The technical quality of film shown last Sunday was superior to what generally has been appearing on the CBS program. Both programs appear to be aiming at doing two things: cover weekend spot news and offer some background features.

Both have run up against a fact that nearly everybody must recognize by this time: except for violence and sudden death big news usually is not made over a week end. Yet, in straining to be timely, they tend to play up trivia when anything bigger is lacking.

The NBC program nearly dashed its brains out when it ran into the stone wall of no news on its debut last Sunday. Suffering perhaps from a Wide World complex, somebody decided it would be a clever idea to have various reporters in various cities do regional roundups of their areas. Two stood on streets, one looked out a window, another perched on a wall and reported what they'd read on the Teletype. It was embarrassing, for there simply wasn't any news.

A television news program should be flexible enough that it could skip a report from a reporter who has little more than the fact that Julius La Rosa was arrested in Wisconsin for driving 65 miles an hour in a 55-mile zone.

Both programs would command wider audiences if they confined themselves to two things: (1) front page news — when there is any, and (2), a form which has become known as the news feature — or study of a subject that is timely.

It is altogether likely that a good share of the pedestrian injuries are suffered in the cities, not only because of the denser vehicle travel, but most of the pedestrian are walking in the urban areas.

More than half of the pedestrian casualties come as a result of people crossing streets between intersections. Chief Long pointed out that there has been constant emphasis on the necessity of crossing in crosswalks and yet year after year more than half of the casualties result because people are just in too big a hurry and fail to walk to the corner and cross at that point.

HOWEVER, Chief Long admitted that injuries resulting from pedestrians using the intersections were not too far behind the between-block casualties. He pointed out that the majority of the pedestrians do use the crosswalks and therefore there was more opportunity for a collision between a vehicle and pedestrian at these points.

Chief Long thought that quite a few of the injuries at crosswalks might be the result of two things: — The pedestrian takes a look before he starts across and too often does not look again. In the last third of his crossing he is caught by a car that he didn't even see.

This car could have pulled from a parking place or out of an alley, or be a left-turning vehicle approaching partly from the rear of the pedestrian.

The pedestrian should continue to watch for vehicles as he crosses the street, then in the event he missed seeing one before he started, he has an opportunity to escape injury.

The Chief was emphatic in stating that too many motorists give too little attention to pedestrians, particularly when said motorist wishes to make a turn. The pedestrian has the right-of-way over a turning vehicle and even those walkers who are crossing the street unlawfully and improperly do not warrant being struck by an inattentive driver. The motorist still has the responsibility to make every possible effort to avoid striking the person on foot.

This Region To Gain From St. Lawrence Seaway

Fayette County, at least to some extent, along with the rest of the state of Ohio, is expected to profit by the new trade route being opened along the St. Lawrence River.

This greater Ohio benefit was brought to attention in this section of the state recently by a public address of Dr. John I. Lawnsbury, professor of Geography at Antioch College when he told how the St. Lawrence Seaway project will stimulate economic relations between America's hinterlands and overseas markets and among the immediate beneficiaries of the growing exchange of goods and raw materials along the big deep-water channel will be the people of Ohio.

Although it would seem that people in the Great Lakes region would perhaps be in position to gain the most, the impact of the Seaway will be felt far beyond the Great Lakes region, in the major factory centers of the Midwest, which until now have been isolated from the international sea lanes.

It is difficult to visualize the total effect all this will have on the economic future of the Seaway community. It is reported that Chicago expects to become the biggest city in the nation, once the Seaway route is completed and a barge canal connecting it with the Mississippi River is enlarged; Toledo contemplates becoming the world's busiest coal port. Similarly, there are plans for constructing a rubber-belt conveyor system between Lake Erie and the Ohio River, which would carry heavy north-south coal and iron ore shipments.

In grain areas such as Fayette County, farmers are talking of raising export quotas because the Seaway will give them a price advantage over foreign competitors. Thus at nearly every economic level and in every corner of mid-America men speak of the Seaway with great expectations.

Lure For Tax-Free Dollars

By Hal Boyle

NASSAU, Bahamas (AP)—Tourists and tax-free dollars are creating the greatest boom in the 464-year history of the Bahamas.

The first tourist was Christopher Columbus, who landed in these islands of eternal summer in 1492 murmuring, "India, I presume?"

Although disappointed in his quest for a shorter route to Bombay and Cathay, Chris was cheered to find the climate was balmy and the sturdy natives had neither income nor inheritance taxes.

It is still that way.

Nassau for more than half a century has been a winter refuge for the wealthy few. Now, like Florida, its neighbor across the blue-green waters, it is becoming a year-round vacation haunt for the many. Visiting stenographers, flying in on a trip paid for on the installment plan, outnumber the millionaire sportsmen who sail here in their own yachts.

The growth of the tourist industry can be seen in these figures. There were 32,018 visitors in 1949 and they spent $10,407.

000. In 1955 more than 132,434 came and left $26,352,000. Actually, however, in both years the tourists probably spent far more than these figures indicate. This is a British sterling money area, and for one reason or another many dollars expended here don't get officially reported.

A few oldtimers fear the influx of tourists will turn conservative Nassau into "another Miami." But most Bahamians are glad to see a fellow from out of town and sell him anything from a $1.50 straw hat to a $50,000 sailboat.

Not all the visitors are sun-seekers here for a brief season on the beach or to make a sociological study of the effects of drinking four rum-filled planters punches in a row.

Many are hard-headed businessmen from America, Canada, Britain and other countries looking for ways to invest capital that will enable them to escape high inheritance or income taxes in their homelands. There are no such taxes here. The colony is financed largely by an import tax on all products brought in from abroad.

Just how can this tax situation help a foreign capitalist? As explained to me, there is a long accepted principle in international law that no country attempts to tax real property situated in another country.

Suppose you are a rich American with a couple of million bucks or so you'd like to leave your heirs without having Uncle Sam take his usual big whack.

You couldn't start a big chain of liquor stores here. The colony has a rule you have to be a resident for seven years before you can launch a business competition with one already in existence.

But you could buy up a lot of island real estate and either develop it or just let it lie there enjoying the sunshine.

After your death your heirs can sell the property and pocket the money practically free, as the American inheritance law wouldn't apply. If the property had gone up in value (and it is going up right now), they might even turn a tidy profit.

I might be tempted to employ this device myself, except the only thing I have to leave my heirs is a wrist watch.

New Puzzle Game In Russia

By George Sokolsky

Something is happening in Russia that is very puzzling but the data is insufficient for anyone to support an opinion. Therefore those who regard themselves as experts or who are inclined to earn a living as such are in the difficult situation of having to make guesses which may come out one way or the other, hoping that a wrong guess will charitably be forgotten.

Some of these experts have come up with the following judgments on what is going on in Russia since Khrushchev delivered two speeches, one lasting seven hours, punctuated by tears, the other lasting three hours and spoken in the most profound secrecy. Maybe it was the second speech that was punctuated by tears. Both speeches were designed to destroy Joe Stalin as a deity and to make him out to be a sadistic madman or something. So, the experts produce the following conclusions:

1. This is an ordinary purge such as Stalin employed from time to time to enhance his power.
2. This is the internal revolution that the West has been looking for.
3. This is the reversion of Communism to Christian decency because the Soviet power is so great that it no longer needs to use murder as a weapon. Proof: Khrushchev did not murder Malenkov.
4. This is all a show put on to fool Eisenhower and Eden.
5. This is essential because the collective leadership could not build its power with the ghost of Stalin always around.
6. Nothing is happening in Russia that does not ordinarily happen as otherwise the leaders would not be chasing all over the world as they are constantly doing.
7. The Russian army is about to take control.

Take your choice and you too will be an expert. Thus far the data that has come out of the Soviet Union is so scanty that it is practically impossible to evaluate the significance of the course of events. News stories are obviously censored and are very sketchy. Information that comes from the underground sources only produces the impression that the collective leadership found Stalin worship a handicap and that the cult of Stalinism endangered the concept of an oligarchical control in a country which has been accustomed to be ruled by an autocrat for a thousand years and more.

It is possible, also, that there is some internal struggle for leadership between Khrushchev and Malenkov who is now in London, being kissed for the benefit of photographers. It is probably untrue that Khrushchev is trying to do much more damage to his brother-in-law, Malenkov, or that Khrushchev would not have gone to England, leaving his rear unprotected.

In a word, while the Russian situation is puzzling, the various guesses do not help us through the maze. The collective leadership may be in a situation very much like our own politicians who most of the time wonder what they will do next, particularly if they are ambitious to be candidates for the presidency or sit around scheming to be appointed to the Supreme Court or something like that. It might be the same in Russia, except that they do not have elections there, like ours, and it used to be easier to settle public questions by killing an opponent. Now that people like Khrushchev or Mikoyan or Malenkov have gone in for not killing their opposition, it is pretty tough for them to get rid of such people or of each other. They may be engaged at the present time in working out a formula for changes in government without murdering the opposition.

To do that they have to get rid of Stalin's ghost because Stalin's method of promotion and destruction was by murder which is swift and efficient and so competent that Roosevelt gave him $11,000,000,000 to spend as he chose without moral strictures, whereas Hitler and Mussolini were regarded as very bad men. It just goes to show that because Stalin said better words than Hitler did, he could commit the same kind of murders that Hitler committed and get away with it. His successors must look like bunglers because so far they have only killed one big shot, Beria, and nobody complained. In fact, Tito thought it was a good show and made peace with Moscow after grabbing all the money we forced on him.

So, if you want a new parlor game, like the 20 Questions game before television blighted our homes, try to solve the puzzle as to what Khrushchev is up to, if anything.

Tips On TV Viewing To Ease Eye Strain

By HERMAN N. BUNDESEN

There's more to viewing television than simply turning on the set and plopping comfortably on to the floor to watch.

For one thing, get up off the floor and view that picture from a position level with the screen.

Sit directly in front of the screen, too, and at least six feet from it. You or your youngsters are apt to develop headaches from glaring at your TV set from an angle, the floor or from a position too close to the screen.

Indirect Lighting

Keep a light on in the room. Moderate indirect lighting for the room as a whole probably is best. This light should not compete with the TV picture nor contrast with it too much.

By partially illuminating the background, you can eliminate a great deal of eyestrain. You can easily see that frequent shifting of the eyes from a bright screen to a dark background would cause a lot of unnecessary work.

Look Away

I also think it's advisable to look away from the set from time to time to give your eyes a little rest. Maybe you can do this during those very long commercials so you won't miss the entertaining portions of the program.

Keep your set in good condition so that you get steady, clear pictures. And watch only stations which give you strong reception. Your eyes may be tired by flickering or grainy images.

By following these suggestions you should be able to watch television without harming your eyes. But don't become a TV addict. There are some, you know.

Curative Measures

In some instances, active therapeutic assistance is needed to cure susceptible persons, such as adolescents, of the TV viewing habit. Some of these victims may experience emotional turmoil and satisfaction of their aggressive fantasies. However, feelings of guilt usually develop, too.

The result is that a lot of time is wasted, creativity is lost and the victim fails to face the problems of reality. Both he and his family may suffer. He may need the assistance of a doctor.

QUESTION AND ANSWER

B. V.: Would it be possible for me to have a sandpaper operation to remove blotches and small holes left by a skin disease which has been cured?

Answer: This depends upon the type of skin disease. Certain cases of acne scars have been benefited by the sandpaper treatment.

The Nation Today

James Marlow

AP News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP)—Right now—when a lot of people seem puzzled about the Russians—you may want to paste a few of N. Khrushchev's phrases in your hat for future reference.

As a result of the Russians' new, soft line and their downgrading of Stalin, this has become one of the overworked questions of the day: Are the Russians changing? It's a way of saying: are they reforming?

Yet Nikita Khrushchev, the Communist party boss, in his speech to the party's 20th Congress in February made it plain the basic Communist doctrine hasn't changed: they intend to take over the world.

Khrushchev's expressed intentions may have been overlooked in the bewilderment over the treatment now given Stalin or because he surrounded his statement of doctrine with thousands of words about peace, trade, and disarmament.

What he said is no surprise in the hydrogen age when a war might wipe out both the United States and Russia. He said, in effect, there are lots of ways to skin a cat and making war doesn't have to be one of them.

He didn't change doctrine, just tactics and policies. He said Communists everywhere should try to take over where they can by legal means: by getting into national legislatures or parliaments.

But in countries which can't be taken that way, he said, revolution may be necessary. In showing he has not abandoned the idea of conquest by violence, when peaceful means can't be used, he said:

"The winning of a stable parliamentary majority... would bring about... conditions insuring the implementation of fundamental social transformations."

"In countries where capitalism is still strong and where it controls an enormous military and police machine, the serious resistance of the reactionary forces is inevitable."

"There the transition to socialism will proceed amid conditions of an acute class revolutionary struggle."

This was said before the Reds, calling their former boss an inept murderer and mental case, began openly their all-out attack to destroy respect for Stalin. The violence of it made many Westerners wonder if fundamental changes were taking place or lay ahead.

But an obvious explanation for the downgrading of Stalin—so obvious it may not be believed—came Thursday from Georgi Malenkov, Stalin's successor who was downgraded himself to a subordinate position.

"We decided to oppose the cult of personality because it leads to a person being worshipped and eventually endowed with supernatural powers. The whole thing he little the work of the Communist party itself."

President Eisenhower has no illusions about the Soviets, as he told his news conference this week.

"There is no discernible basic change in the fundamental purposes of communism; world revolution and the so-called dictatorship of the proletariat through the Cominform."

"I believe as of today the leaders of communism still believe the same things they have believed since the days of Lenin."

Eisenhower said Secretary of State Dulles agrees with him. But Dulles has been a lot more roundabout in expressing his views. He has sometimes wondered out loud what the Russians were up to.

2 Democratic Candidates Give Talks

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Two candidates for the Democratic nomination for governor addressed audiences of party members Thursday night.

At a Jefferson-Jackson Day dinner in Portsmouth, Michael D. Sallie said the state should give all possible assistance to the southern counties' efforts to attract industries to the region to replace those that have been lost.

Disalle pointed out that the area suffered a decline in population between 1940-50 as unprofitable mines ceased to operate.

At Fostoria, Robert W. Reider told a Democratic club that the state's Democratic organization will have to be overhauled if the fundamental rights of home rule are to be restored.

He said Republican domination in the state for the past 20 years has resulted in a shifting of power to Columbus.

He added: "We are not so much governed by laws as we are governed by commission regulations and by dictatorial executive orders. This growth of power is frightening and it's time we stored inherent rights of individuals by giving our government back to the people."

The average American of 60 can expect an average 15 years of life but only 9 years of work.

Tips On TV Viewing To Ease Eye Strain

By HERMAN N. BUNDESEN

There's more to viewing television than simply turning on the set and plopping comfortably on to the floor to watch.

For one thing, get up off the floor and view that picture from a position level with the screen.

Sit directly in front of the screen, too, and at least six feet from it. You or your youngsters are apt to develop headaches from glaring at your TV set from an angle, the floor or from a position too close to the screen.

Indirect Lighting

Keep a light on in the room. Moderate indirect lighting for the room as a whole probably is best. This light should not compete with the TV picture nor contrast with it too much.

By partially illuminating the background, you can eliminate a great deal of eyestrain. You can easily see that frequent shifting of the eyes from a bright screen to a dark background would cause a lot of unnecessary work.

Look Away

I also think it's advisable to look away from the set from time to time to give your eyes a little rest. Maybe you can do this during those very long commercials so you won't miss the entertaining portions of the program.

Keep your set in good condition so that you get steady, clear pictures. And watch only stations which give you strong reception. Your eyes may be tired by flickering or grainy images.

By following these suggestions you should be able to watch television without harming your eyes. But don't become a TV addict. There are some, you know.

Curative Measures

In some instances, active therapeutic assistance is needed to cure susceptible persons, such as adolescents, of the TV viewing habit. Some of these victims may experience emotional turmoil and satisfaction of their aggressive fantasies. However, feelings of guilt usually develop, too.

The result is that a lot of time is wasted, creativeness is lost and the victim fails to face the problems of reality. Both he and his family may suffer. He may need the assistance of a doctor.

QUESTION AND ANSWER

B. V.: Would it be possible for me to have a sandpaper operation to remove blotches and small holes left by a skin disease which has been cured?

Answer: This depends upon the type of skin disease. Certain cases of acne scars have been benefited by the sandpaper treatment.

WASHINGTON (AP)—Right now—when a lot of people seem puzzled about the Russians—you may want to paste a few of N. Khrushchev's phrases in your hat for future reference.

As a result of the Russians' new, soft line and their downgrading of Stalin, this has become one of the overworked questions of the day: Are the Russians changing? It's a way of saying: are they reforming?

Yet Nikita Khrushchev, the Communist party boss, in his speech to the party's 20th Congress in February made it plain the basic Communist doctrine hasn't changed: they intend to take over the world.

Khrushchev's expressed intentions may have been overlooked in the bewilderment over the treatment now given Stalin or because he surrounded his statement of doctrine with thousands of words about peace, trade, and disarmament.

What he said is no surprise in the hydrogen age when a war might wipe out both the United States and Russia. He said, in effect, there are lots of ways to skin a cat and making war doesn't have to be one of them.

He didn't change doctrine, just tactics and policies. He said Communists everywhere should try to take over where they can by legal means: by getting into national legislatures or parliaments.

But in countries which can't be taken that way, he said, revolution may be necessary. In showing he has not abandoned the idea of conquest by violence, when peaceful means can't be used, he said:

"The winning of a stable parliamentary majority... would bring about... conditions insuring the implementation of fundamental social transformations.

"... In countries where capitalism is still strong and where it controls an enormous military and police machine, the serious resistance of the reactionary forces is inevitable.

"There the transition to socialism will proceed amid conditions of an acute class revolutionary struggle."

This was said before the Reds, calling their former boss an inept murderer and mental case, began openly their all-out attack to destroy respect for Stalin. The violence of it made many Westerners wonder if fundamental changes were taking place or lay ahead.

But an obvious explanation for the downgrading of Stalin—so obvious it may not be believed—came Thursday from Georgi Malenkov, Stalin's successor who was downgraded himself to a subordinate position.

"We decided to oppose the cult of personality because it leads to a person being worshipped and eventually endowed with supernatural powers. The whole thing being the little work of the Communist party itself."

President Eisenhower has no illusions about the Soviets, as he told his news conference this week:

"There is no discernible basic change in the fundamental purposes of communism; world revolution and the so-called dictatorship of the proletariat through the Cominform."

"I believe as of today the leaders of communism still believe the same things they have believed since the days of Lenin."

Eisenhower said Secretary of State Dulles agrees with him. But Dulles has been a lot more roundabout in expressing his views. He has sometimes wondered out loud what the Russians were up to.

2 Democratic Candidates Give Talks

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Two candidates for the Democratic nomination for governor addressed audiences of party members Thursday night.

At a Jefferson-Jackson Day dinner in Portsmouth, Michael DiSalle said the state should give all possible assistance to the southeastern counties' efforts to attract industries to the region to replace those that have been lost.

DiSalle pointed out that the area suffered a decline in population between 1940-50 as unprofitable mines ceased to operate.

At Fostoria, Robert W. Reider told a Democratic club that the state's Democratic organization will have to be overhauled if the fundamental rights of home rule are to be restored.

He said Republican domination in the state for the past 20 years has resulted in a shifting of power to Columbus.

He added: "We are not so much governed by laws as we are governed by commission regulations and by dictatorial executive orders. This growth of power is frightening and it's time we restored inherent rights of individuals by giving our government back to the people."

The average American of 60 can expect an average 15 years of life but only 9 years of work.

BLOOD MONEY!

Judas got BLOOD MONEY when he used the House of God as a place to sell his soul. The church is where we train for divine service; a place to worship. God forbid that men should ever use it to bring reproach upon His cause. Don't settle for a measly THIRTY PIECES of silver. Don't gloat over gain. Thank God for it. Go to Church.

Youngstown Paper Backing DiSalle

YOUNGSTOWN, Ohio (AP) — The Youngstown Vindicator in an editorial Wednesday endorsed Michael V. DiSalle for the Democratic nomination as a candidate for Ohio governor.

DiSalle, former Toledo mayor, is one of five men seeking the nomination. His opponents include Youngstown Mayor Frank X. Kryzan. The editorial declared that both DiSalle and C. William O'Neill, Republican gubernatorial candidate, should be nominated in their respective party primaries "to insure Ohio an able governor no matter what happens in November."

You Need The Church-The Church Needs You

BLOOD MONEY!

Judas got BLOOD MONEY when he used the House of God as a place to sell his soul. The church is where we train for divine service; a place to worship. God forbid that men should ever use it to bring reproach upon His cause. Don't settle for a measly THIRTY PIECES of silver. Don't gloat over gain. Thank God for it. Go to Church.

Youngstown Paper Backing DiSalle

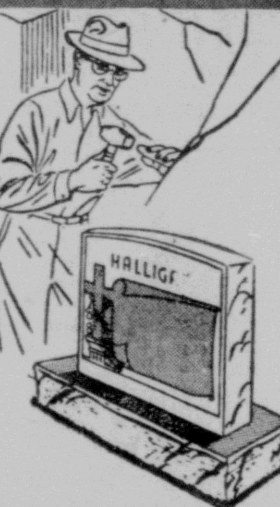

YOUNGSTOWN, Ohio (AP) — The Youngstown Vindicator in an editorial Wednesday endorsed Michael V. DiSalle for the Democratic nomination as a candidate for Ohio governor.

DiSalle, former Toledo mayor, is one of five men seeking the nomination. His opponents include Youngstown Mayor Frank X. Kryzan.

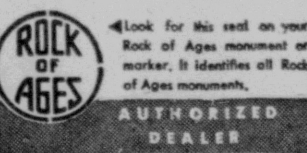

The editorial declared that both DiSalle and C. William O'Neill, Republican gubernatorial candidate, should be nominated in their respective party primaries "to insure Ohio an able governor no matter what happens in November."

State Patrol To Install New Lie Detector

Equipment Is To Be Added To Patrol
Laboratory

The State Highway Patrol is going modern, by installing a lie detector as part of the State Highway Patrol Laboratory equipment with in the next 30 days.

Col George Mingle superintendent of the department, made the announcement this week.

Colonel Mingle also revealed that the Patrol plans to add a spectrograph to its equipment at a later date. Both pieces of equipment will be put into operation at General Headquarters in Columbus.

The lie detector will be operated by the Laboratory and Investigation Section under Captain F. C. Moon. Captain Moon said "We believe the lie detector will be a definite aid in solving certain cases and also help us quickly determine the innocence of some suspects held for investigation."

"The addition of the detector to our investigation facilities," Captain Moon said, "will also mean that the Patrol will no longer find it necessary to burden other departments having detectors for this technical service."

Corporal W. C. George, who was recently transferred to Columbus from Wilmington, will operate the lie detector. A polygraph examining room is now being constructed for the detector.

Corporal George has completed a six-weeks course of instruction on the detector at the Keeler Polygraph Institute in Chicago. He has been assigned to the Investigation and Laboratory Section since 1951.

A native of Columbus, Corporal George joined the Patrol in 1946. The Corporal and his wife and their two children have made their home at 301 South Walnut Street, Wilmington, but will move their residence to Columbus.

By W. A. SMITH
(City School Superintendent)

The third grade pupils of Mrs. Edna Watts at Rose Avenue School became quite interested in Early American life after having read a unit about pioneer life in their readers.

Following a discussion of objects found in pioneer homes and antiques in their own homes, some of the pupils suggested that a pioneer and antique display be held in the room. A surprisingly large collection of items was brought for the display by the children.

After all the articles were assembled, invitations were sent to the other grades to come and see the display. Each child showed and gave the history of the object he had brought.

Following is a list of the articles on display and the names of the children who brought them:

A gun known as a muzzle loader, 3 powder horns, a bullet mold and some bullets that had been made in it, Barbara Merritt.

A doll with cloth body and China head and feet; miniatures of a spinning wheel, two Conestoga Wagons, phonograph with horn attachment, and 2 kerosene lamps were brought by Connie Shonkwiler.

A glass candy bowl that was his great-grandmother's wedding present, Benny Keller.

A bride doll, a toy coal and wood range, and a flat iron, Wilma Jane Coulter; an iron holder for flat irons, Delbert Saltz.

A miniature well with an oaken bucket, and an old fashioned churn, Charles Conger; a wooden jutter mold and a stone Indian pestle used for pounding corn, Paulette Callender.

A very large phonograph horn decorated with painted flowers, and an old German sword were shown by Faith Ann Lyons.

A pair of pincers that blacksmiths used in removing horseshoes from the fire, Eddie Trimmer; a cowbell, and a poem written by a Greenfield man 110 years ago, Gerry Horney; an Indian peace pipe, Charlotte Pierson.

A bottle capper and an apple peeler by Ernie Wilson. Ernie gave a demonstration to show that the apple peeler still worked.

Beads made from rose petals, and strands of shell beads made by the natives of the Tahitian Islands, Pamela Caldwell.

"Voter's Guide" Now Available

Instructions For Voting Procedures

The Fayette County Board of Elections has received from Secretary of State Ted W. Brown a supply of the 1956 edition of "The Voter's Guide," prepared by Brown. It is available to the public.

An innovation this year is the fact that it covers the primary election, as well as the general election.

The "Voter's Guide" is one of a series of three published annually by the Secretary of State. One for candidates was issued earlier in the year and one for precinct officials will be distributed later in the year, all a part of Secretary Brown's two-fold educational program, designed to aid the public and educate election officials.

The 8-page pocket-size "Guide" gives facts regarding Ohio election laws, written in easy-to-understand laymen's language. Covered in the brochure are qualifications for voting, registration regulations, where registration is required, absent and disabled voter procedures, armed service voting privileges and a detailed description of what not to do and what to do at the polls.

Included is a handy calendar of important dates affecting both the 1956 primary election on Nov. 8 and the general election on November 6. Counties are listed showing their population, the number of persons going to the polls in November, 1954 and those counties having complete or partial registration and those using voting machines.

MARION CIRCLETES
The girls of the Marion Circlettes set their plans for the coming year at the last session, held at the home of Jane Hutton.

The upcoming events were announced by Marilyn Writsel. Among their plans, the girls listed attendance at two upcoming county-wide meetings—the good grooming clinic April 5 and the officers and advisors conference April 9.

Trudy Wolfe, Judy Allison and Anne Draise were appointed to call the girls before these two sessions and remind them to attend.

The business meeting was opened by the president, Donna Burke with the members repeating the Lord's Prayer and the 4-H pledge. Linda Stephenson called the roll and read the secretary's report.

Sally Kilgore and Rebecca Dougherty served refreshments to the girls and their advisor, Mrs. Maynard Draise.

The next meeting will be at the home of Donna Burke, Ann Draise and Becky Klever will serve refreshments.

COUNTRY SISTERS

A bake sale was slated for April 14 at Korn's insurance Co. during the last meeting of the Wilson Country Sisters.

The girls met at the Wilson School. The business session was opened by the president, Carol King, and secretary's and treasurer's reports were read by Rosemary Caplinger and Suzanne Torbert.

The girls decided that each member would find some job to do for her parents, earn a quarter doing it and add the money to the club treasury.

Shirley Drake led the group in singing "The Star Spangled Banner" to close the meeting.

ner" to close the meeting.

The first-year member afterward worked on their towel and pot holder projects, while the older girls worked at laying out patterns for the sportswear they are making.

Norma Jean Glass and Donna Dill served refreshments to the members; Mrs. Frank Dill, the advisor; and Joyce Lutz, the new junior leader.

At the next meeting, to be held April 17, Sharon Armbrust and Jerilyn McClain will serve refreshments.

Man Reports Gun Pointed From Car

Luther Bashan, employee of the Wildlife Division of Ohio, and residing in Columbus, reported to Hillsboro officers, that while he was driving on Route 62 north of Hillsboro, a light colored car containing five or six young men, passed him, and one of them pointed a gun at him.

He said the car was traveling very fast and was headed toward Washington C. H.

Deputy Sheriff Robert McArthur patrolled Route 62 but no car answering the description was seen.

It is supposed the car stopped in Leesburg or turned off a side road after the gun pointing incident.

HILLSBORO—James Hopkins, 17, was fined $25 and suspended from driving for a year, and his mother, Mrs. Ruth Hopkins, 34, was fined $100 and costs and given 30 days in the workhouse for permitting her son to drive under suspension. Phillies Seen In Dire Need Of More Left-handed Power

CLEARWATER, Fla. (AP)—Unless the Philadelphia Phillies come up with a left-handed power hitter and a strong southpaw hurler they don't figure to create even a stir in the National League pennant race this year.

Lack of left-handed strength, either on attack or on the mound, is the Phillies' Achilles' heel. Manager Mayo Smith is well aware of it but what's worse, so are the other managers.

Consequently, the Phillies must be prepared for a diet of righthanded pitching. Furthermore, the opposing clubs will be stacked with all available left-handed power to take dead aim at the Phil's right-handed pitchers.

Regarding left handed power, the blunt truth is there just is none. Marv Blaylock, who may share the first base duties with Stan Lopata, a converted catcher, hit only three homers and drove in only 24 in 113 games last year. Rookie Ed Bouchee and John Moskus, the other aspirants for the regular first base job, reported out of condition.

Richie Ashburn, Jimmy Westlake, Frankie Baumholtz and Glen Gorbous, the other southpaw sluggers, have no power.

Whatever power the Phils will generate will be supplied by Del Ennis, one of the league's authentic sluggers; Gran Hamner, a fine clutch hitter; Lopata, a long but inconsistent hitter; and Willie Jones, a solid RBI man All but righthanded.

The club has good pitching. Any club has with Robin Roberts. The ace righthander looks as good as ever this spring. If he doesn't win 20, nobody will. Herman Wehmeier (10-12), Murry Dickson (12-11), a rejuvenated Saul Rogovin (5-3) and rookie Jim Owens (15-11) at Syracuse loom as the starting five. Ron Negray (4-3) and Curt Simmons, who still hasn't signed his contract, will be used as spot starters. Simmons is the only left-hander.

The Phils are strong at short-stop with Hamner and third, with Jones. Left and centerfield are ably filled by Ennis and Ashburn. But Smith acknowledges he has problems at second, right field and behind the plate.

If the season were to open Friday, Ted Kazanski, the bonus kid who prepped at Syracuse last year, would be the regular second baseman. But he has a record of futility as a hitter and it won't be much of a surprise if Bobby Morgan, just getting over a hand injury, or Roy Smalley, a valuable utility infielder, takes over there soon.

Jim Greengrass is the favorite for right field but has been playing sparingly upon the advice of the doctors. He underwent treatment for a thickened blood vessel during the winter.

Andy Seminick, no longer agile at 35, currently is the No. 1 catcher.

Warriors Ahead In Pro Cage Test

FORT WAYNE, Ind. (AP)—The Philadelphia Warriors need only a home court victory tomorrow night to wrap up the National Basketball Assn. playoffs.

If Paul Arizin keeps up his 28-point average they should give him the trophy to keep.

The steady Warrior forward scored 30 points last night as Philadelphia outlasted the Fort Wayne Pistons, 107-105, to take a 3-1 lead in their best-of-seven series. His previous totals for the series were 28, 27 and 27.

YMCA Cage Champ Faces First Test

Phillies Seen In Dire Need Of More Left-handed Power

CLEARWATER, Fla. (AP)—Unless the Philadelphia Phillies come up with a left-handed power hitter and a strong southpaw hurler they don't figure to create even a stir in the National League pennant race this year.

Lack of left-handed strength, either on attack or on the mound, is the Phillies' Achilles' heel. Manager Mayo Smith is well aware of it but what's worse, so are the other managers.

Consequently, the Phillies must be prepared for a diet of righthanded pitching. Furthermore, the opposing clubs will be stacked with all available left-handed power to take dead aim at the Phils' right-handed pitchers. Regarding left handed power, the blunt truth is there just is none. Marv Blaylock, who may share the first base duties with Stan Lopata, a converted catcher, hit only 24 in 113 games last year. Rookie Ed Bouchee and John Moskus, the other aspirants for the regular first base job, reported out of condition.

Richie Ashburn, Jimmy Westlake, Frankie Baumholtz and Glen Gorbous, the other southpaw swingers, have no power.

Whatever power the Phils will generate will be supplied by Del Ennis, one of the league's authentic sluggers; Gran Hamner, a fine clutch hitter; Lopata, a long but inconsistent hitter; and Willie Jones, a solid RBI man. All but right-handed.

Olson Pilot Gives Warning To Robinson

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Sugar Ray Robinson had better be in the best condition of his life if he expects to whip ex-champion Bobo Olson and hang on to the world middle-weight championship.

So said Sid Flaherty, Olson's manager, today as he completed training plans for his boxer for the Robinson rematch at Wrigley Field May 18.

The 26-year-old Bobo, Flaherty continued, is a far different man from the fellow who got knocked out by Sugar Ray and lost the title in Chicago last year. Of the kayo, Flaherty noted that while Olson is no intellectual giant, "he does have pride."

"Olson surprised me last week," said Flaherty. "He told me he doesn't want his kids to remember he was a man who lost the championship on a knockout. He said he wants them to remember him as the champion."

"Make no mistake," Flaherty exclaimed. "Olson wants that title back. He wants it bad, and not for just the money in it."

Flaherty doesn't care to discuss Bobo's bizarre extra-curricular matrimonial affairs except to say that Bobo is actually glad that "everything is out in the open now. He doesn't have to worry and brood about it."

Mrs. Olson has filed for divorce and accused Bobo of fathering by another girl a small family besides their own.

Training Camp News Briefs

CORPUS CHRISTI, Tex. (AP)—Young Herb Score apparently has put binkers on his fast ball, and this could provide just the impetus needed to carry Cleveland to the American League pennant.

If the rival New York Yankees, Chicago White Sox and Boston Red Sox have been looking hopefully for signs that the 22-year-old southpaw fireballer may be stricken by the "sophomore jinx," they can find no comfort in spring developments to date.

Score, the American League's "Rookie of the Year" and leading strikeout specialist in 1955, continues to live up to his appellation as the "new Lefty Grove."

The towering young left-hander from Lake Worth, Fla., pitched five scoreless innings against the New York Giants Thursday at Corpus Christi, Tex., in helping the Indians to their second straight 2-0 shutout. His steaming fast ball under full control, he gave up only two hits and fanned seven.

ALBANY, Ga. (AP)—St. Louis Cardinal Manager Fred Hutchinson says he hopes to have Vinegar Bend Mizell and Harvey Haddix ready to open the regular season against the Cincinnati Reds April 17-19.

"It all depends on the weather between now and then," said Hutchinson Thursday as he tried to plan his pitching rotation for the rest of the road exhibition series.

If his plans work out, Tom Poholeky and Willard Schmidt will get the call against the Kansas City Athletics the weekend before the season opens and again to face Milwaukee at the Redbirds' openers in St. Louis.

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP)—Manager Buckey Harris appeared ready to gamble today that Reno Bertola and Wayne Belardi have the respective answers to his second base and left field problems.

While both are new at their current positions, they have come closer to showing Harris what he considers a major league performance than any others at the two spots—and both are long-ball hitters.

CHATTANOOGA (AP)—Milwaukee southpaw Warren Spahn was slated to make one of his infrequent starts against Brooklyn in their exhibition today.

Spahn, with a 3-0 spring record, held the Brooks at bay in an earlier spring meeting. Manager Charlie Grimm indicated then the veteran hurler may see regular season work against the defending champions.

ALPINE, Tex. (AP)—The slugfest series between the Chicago Cubs and the Baltimore Orioles continued here Thursday with the Cubs pounding out 20 base hits in a 16-4 victory. The Orioles won the day before in Douglas, Ariz., 15-4.

The Cubs had lots of hitting heroes Thursday. Ernie Banks hit two home runs and two singles. Clyde McCullough drove in six runs with two homers, and Don Hoak collected a single, double and homer.

KNOXVILLE, Tenn. (AP)—Fast ball pitchers are getting more scarce each year, says Manager Marty Marion of the Chicago White Sox.

"Most of the young ones are trick pitchers," he said. "This is an era of the slider, knuckler and the slip, or palm, pitch. And I believe they're better pitchers for it."

"After all, the secret of effective pitching is keeping the batter off stride. Good timing is most important to a hitter. The pitchers try to break up the timing and they do it with these trick pitches."

Redlegs See Improvement In Relievers

FLORENCE, S. C. (AP)—If spring training figures mean anything, the Cincinnati Redlegs may have one of their pitching problems solved—that of relief hurling.

Hershel Freeman did a fine job for the Reds last year but now he has been joined by Bill Kennedy, a 35-year-old southpaw who has kicked around in and out of the big leagues since 1948.

Freeman hasn't allowed a run and only seven hits in 13 1/3 innings of spring training exhibitions. Kennedy has allowed five hits and hasn't given up a run in 9 2/3 innings.

Neither of them was needed yesterday as the Reds took a 4-3 decision from Washington at Camp Gordon, Ga. Johnny Klippstein wobbled a bit as he yielded all of the Senator runs in seven innings.

and Pat Scantlebury finally got credit for the victory as Johnny Temple's single drove in the winning run in the last of the ninth.

Joe Nuxhall, who pitched a four-hit shutout and went the distance in his last time out, was scheduled to go against Washington here today. Southpaw Dean Stone was named Senator hurler.

Through six innings yesterday it looked as if the Reds were headed for defeat. The Senators picked up a run in the first inning and added two more in the sixth on Whitey Herzog's home run. But the Redlegs tallied in the seventh and eighth.

Frisco Amateur Takes Lead In Masters

Ken Venturi's 66 Sets Pace For Big Georgia Tournament

AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP)—Shades of Billy Joe Patton, another amateur is off and running in the Masters.

Ken Venturi is the young man's name and he showed the veteran pros a thing or two about golf with his opening round 66.

The 24-year-old San Francisco stylist's six-under-par was only two shots over the record for the tough Augusta National course and it gave him a one stroke lead over defending champion Cary Middlecoff going into today's second round.

Tied for third with 68s were a pair of regular circuit riders, Shelley Mayfield and Tommy Bolt.

Ben Hogan, the two-time Masters winner who holds the tournament record of 274, was next with a 69. Patton, amateur sensation here two years ago, shot 70 for a tie with Doug Ford, the PGA champion, and Bob Rosburg, who tied for fourth here last year.

Showers fell intermittently. Not everyone found the course, with its par of 36-36-72 stretched through 6,950 yards of woodlands, easy to master. Sam Snead and Jimmy Demaret, the only three-time winners of this tournament, had to settle for 73s.

Playing with Patton, the North Carolina lumberman who came within a whisker of winning the 1954 Masters, Venturi used an eagle and five birdies in fashioning his brilliant round.

No amateur ever has won a Masters, to the chagrin of founding father Bobby Jones, the greatest amateur of them all. And perhaps Venturi will fall back into the pack. But for one day, at least, the pros were looking at the heels of a Simon-pure.

Sharp iron play marked Middlecoff's game. He was particularly proud of his birdies on four of Augusta National's tougher holes where his longest putt was 16 feet. Venturi's 66 is the best ever posted by an amateur in the Masters. But Middlecoff had a 65 last year and Lloyd Mangrum set the record in 1940 with a 64.

Jeff's Tigers Win From WHS Lions

The Washington C. H. High School baseball Lions dropped a pre-season game to an efficient Jeffersonville team 8-6, at Jeff Thursday afternoon.

The 'Jons outbatted the Tigers 7-4, and generally showed power and promise, but they just were not ready— their pitchers hadn't developed control and their fielders hadn't learned how to catch and hold the ball. And, the Jeff nine took advantage of all their mistakes.

Lion pitchers gave up eight walks during the seven-inning contest, and six of the beneficiaries came home to score. One Tiger made it home on one of the Lion's four costly errors.

But the Lions showed promise, and if they can get into shape, they showed signs of having a good season ahead of them.

Big John Grooms, the Lion's bulky center fielder drummed out two extra-base hits in four times at bat—a homer and a double. And Larry Evans, Lion first baseman, not only batted out a sharp and snappy single, but showed a powerful throwing arm in the field.

John Wright, the classy little Jeff pitcher, did more than his share to tame the Lions during the afternoon although he gave up seven hits. He fanned 12 batters and gave only three walks.

First regular season game for the Lions is set for Friday, when they take on the Hurricane at Wilmington.

The Jeff contest, serving as an end-of-training practice game, may have given the Lions the polish they need to win.

Jeff's Tigers, playing a split fall-and-spring season, now have a record of four wins and two losses. They have won both games in their spring season but they had a two-and-two record for their play last fall.

Eva Gabor Finally Gets License For Third Marriage

NEW YORK (AP)—After a two-hour wait Thursday for routine checks on her marital record, blonde actress Eva Gabor and Dr. John E. Williams obtained a license to wed.

A city official said Miss Gabor, married twice previously, at first did not have enough evidence of legal divorce. Telephone calls to Hollywood turned up the needed information.

Miss Gabor and Williams, who was married once before, plan to be wed this Sunday at the Gabor family home on Fifth avenue.

Last Sunday Miss Gabor's sister, Magda, was married in New Jersey to Arthur Gallucci. It was Magda's third husband.

Another Gabor sister, Zsa Zsa, reportedly will wed Hal B. Hayes April 15. It will be Zsa Zsa's fourth marriage.

Red Wings Sparkle In Hockey Playoffs

DETROIT (AP)—The Detroit Red Wings showed their old-time fire and spirit last night in subduing the Montreal Canadiens 3-1. It was their first win against two losses in the best-of-seven series, but it was an important win and one that may have revived the defending Stanley Cup kings.

Last night's contest was deadlocked 1-1 in the final period when 23-year-old Al Arbour came up with the puck after a scramble on the boards in the Detroit end. A pass to Marty Pavelich, who outran Montreal's Bob Turner to sweep the puck over to veteran Ted Lindsay, and Detroit was off and running to victory.

Missouri Coach Raps Recruiting

TOPEKA, Kan. (AP)—Missouri University's basketball coach says there are more recruiting violations now in college athletics than at any time since he started coaching in 1932.

Wilbur (Sparky) Stalcup said the National Collegiate Athletic Assn. ought to spend some of its money smoking out the evil.

"The time has come for a test case," he declared. "The time has come when some boy should be declared ineligible and some school should have its schedule suspended."

"If you're caught in a violation now, you get a little slap on the wrist and go right on winning."

Venturi's 66 is the best ever posted by an amateur in the Masters. But Middlecoff had a 65 last year and Lloyd Mangrum set the record in 1940 with a 64.

Patton, the North Carolina lumberman who came within a whisker of winning the 1954 Masters, Venturi used an eagle and five birdies in fashioning his brilliant round.

No amateur ever has won a Masters, to the chagrin of founding father Bobby Jones, the greatest amateur of them all. And perhaps Venturi will fall back into the pack. But for one day, at least, the pros were looking at the heels of a Simon-pure.

Sharp iron play marked Middlecoff's game. He was particularly proud of his birdies on four of Augusta National's tougher holes where his longest putt was 16 feet.

Jeff's Tigers Win From WHS Lions

The Washington C. H. High School baseball Lions dropped a pre-season game to an efficient Jeffersonville team 8-6, at Jeff Thursday afternoon.

The Lions outhit the Tigers 7-4, and generally showed power and promise, but they just were not ready—their pitchers hadn't leveled control and their fielders hadn't learned how to catch and hold the ball. And, the Jeff nistake advantage of all their mistakes.

Lion pitchers gave up eight walks during the seven-inning contest, and six of the benefactors came home to score. One Tiger made it home on one of the Lion's four costly errors.

But the Lions showed promise, and if they can get into shape, they showed signs of having a good season ahead of them.

Big John Grooms, the Lion's bulky center fielder drummed out two extra-base hits in four times at bat—a homer and a double. And Larry Evans, Lion first baseman, not only banged out a sharp and snappy single, but showed a powerful throwing arm in the field.

John Wright, the classy little Jeff pitcher did more than his share to tame the Lions during the afternoon although he gave up seven hits. He fanned 12 batters and gave only three walks.

First regular season game for the Lions is set for Friday, when they take on the Hurricane at Wilmington.

The Jeff contest, serving as an end-of-training practice game, may have given the Lions the polish they need to win.

Jeff's Tigers, playing a split fall-and-spring season, now have a record of four wins and two losses. They have won both games in their spring season but they had a two-and-two record for their play last fall.

Gonzales, Segura Pitted In Finals

CLEVELAND (AP)—For the third time in seven years, the finals of the pro tennis tournament here tonight will match Dick Gonzales of Los Angeles against Francisco Segura of Ecuador.

Gonzales, who lost to Segura in 1952 but defeated him the following year, is after his fourth straight championship. Segura also won the crown in 1950, when the event was inaugurated.

In last night's semifinal matches Gonzales defeated Rex Hartwig of Australia 23-21, 21-18, 21-18 and Segura easily trimmed Tony Trabert of Cincinnati, 21-13, 21-10, 21-16.

Red Wings Sparkle In Hockey Playoffs

DETROIT (AP)—The Detroit Red Wings showed their old-time fire and spirit last night in subduing the Montreal Canadiens 3-1. It was their first win against two losses in the best-of-seven series, but it was an important win and one that may have revived the defending Stanley Cup kings.

Last night's contest was deadlocked 1-1 in the final period when 23-year-old Al Arbour came up with the puck after a scramble on the boards in the Detroit end. A pass to Marty Pavelich, who out-ran Montreal's Bob Turner to sweep the puck over to veteran Ted Lindsay, and Detroit was off and running to victory.

How Would You Like to Live in the "Good Old Days"?

★ Back in grandfather's time, during the final quarter of the last century, things were quite different. There were no movies, no airplanes, no automobiles, few bathrooms, practically no efficient electrical appliances. If you contracted diabetes or pernicious anemia, your days were numbered. Your blood just "changed to sugar" in the former, "to water" in the latter.

There was little protection against virulent epidemics. Smallpox vaccine was the only biological on the market. When diphtheria or typhoid ravaged a community, there was nothing to do but wait it out in hope and dread.

Yes, a return to the "good old days" would mean, among other things, the sacrifice of the major portion of the contribution of medicine and pharmacy to your health and well-being.

Cookie Sale By Girl Scouts Is Under Way

Here's a sign of spring that's as certain and convincing as any robin you ever saw: the Girl Scouts are selling cookies again.

Girl Scouts from all over the city will be touring the streets, door-to-door, from Friday, April 6 to April 16, armed with chocolate mint and sandwich cookies, selling them to boost their own troop treasuries for the year to come.

A total of 2100 packages of cookies are to be sold, according to Mrs. Betty Rhoads, and the girls hope to sell every one of them before the drive finishes.

Troop two, under the direction of Mrs. Rhoads has 1800 boxes on hand to sell. The troop's two patrols have split the supply up and will sell it by districts.

Troop three, under the direction of Mrs. Margaret Woodson, has 300 boxes. They, too, have a separate district in which to distribute their cookies, so that neither of the two patrols of troop two nor troop three will be covering territory already covered by someone else.

A prize for the girl who sells the most cookies will be awarded in both patrols of troop two and in troop three.

Funds from the troop two sale will go help get the troop into the six-county girl scout council in this area. The troop is also considering a summertime trip to New York and if there's enough money, some of it may go towards that.

Profits from the troop three sale will go into the general recreation treasury. "We've decided not to plan how to spend it until we see how much we make!" Mrs. Woodson remarked.

"LIFE IS A GAME THAT MUST BE PLAYED"

(Author's name below)

You can live a great many years longer than was expected at your birth because medical science has not only achieved the biblical three score and ten years of average life expectancy, but each year hopes to increase that figure.

But you, yourself, must be an active player in the "Game of Life." If you will regularly visit your physician for a physical checkup, he can help you to prevent serious illness, and you will be richly rewarded by many additional years of healthier living.
